This class is for adults and children with physical disabilities. The exhibitor will work with a volunteer goat exhibitor who has advanced experience showing goats. With the experienced exhibitor, the enrolled exhibitor has the opportunity to learn about the process of showing goats, including aspects such as feeding, or how to present the goat in the show ring. The experienced exhibitor will assist the enrolled exhibitor through the full duration of the class, as well as assisting the enrolled exhibitor to and from the livestock pen into the show ring, then leading the animal back to the livestock pen. If the enrolled exhibitor does not have access to a goat to show as well as a volunteer to assist, there will be many experienced exhibitors who will be willing to assist in volunteering their goats and their time to the enrolled exhibitors. Register at your earliest convenience to ensure you have a minimum of three months to collaborate with your partner and animal. This will ensure that you will feel comfortable with your Volunteer as well as the goat. The exhibitors can work out a schedule that will be the best for them.

This will be a ribbons only class– all participants will receive a ribbon.
